Please join faculty and students from the departments of Counseling, Health Services Administration, Occupational Therapy, Psychology, and Social Work and the College of Nursing to welcome Teepa Snow for a new keynote address of the 2012 inter-professional program on caring for clients with dementia.

Keynote Lecture - Dementia 360: This session will provide a wide variety of perspectives on DEMENTIA. It will provide an 'insider's guide' to typical changes that happen when someone develops dementia. It will address the impact this disease may have on family relationships and roles, professional care providers, rehabilitation professionals, medical providers, social supports and settings, and care and housing options. The session will emphasize the need and value of using a TEAM approach to cope with the challenges of providing the best quality care, using resources wisely, and communicating effectively with various players. By the end of this session, you will be able to discuss the impact of dementia on each of these 'players', describe some of the key strategies to ensure critical concerns are addressed, and begin to develop programming and services that have a high probability of making a positive difference in the lives of those being served.

Teepa Snow lives in central North Carolina. She is an occupational therapist with over 28 years of experience in geriatrics. Teepa currently works as a specialist for dementia care and education. She has served as the education director and lead trainer for the Eastern NC Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association. Teepa has also served as a clinical associate professor at UNC's School of Medicine, Program on Aging. She has clinical appointments with Duke University's School of Nursing and UNC-Chapel Hill's School of Medicine. Teepa has presented for this interprofessional program for the past four years due to her exceptional teaching and presentation style.
